MISCELLANEOUS MINING NEWS!

The statement that Joplin, with her wonderful production of zinc and lead ores, is twenty years behind the age in dressing or cleaning its ores for market seems at first rather absurd. When one considers the advances made in other mining sections, in the way of greater percentages in mineral saving, at a much less price per ton for cleaning than now prevail at Joplin, the absurdity of the statement ceases.

Of course the immense amount of ore bearing ground raised at Joplin necessitated a quick method of concentration and the cumbersome, sloppy jigs, with their capacity for taking care of great tonnages of ore, was the result of such an output and such a demand.

Twenty-five years ago we saw the same class of imperfect concentration by jigs located between Georgetown, Colorado, and Silver Plume. The loss was something frightful on the finer crushed material and this class of machinery was soon abandoned. At that time there was also located at Georgetown a plant of Krom's dry concentrators, the same class of machines that we understand are now in use in what is known as the Garrett process at Paducah for separating zinc and lead from fluor spar. The Krom gradual reduction process by cornish rolls instead of stamps was in use at Georgetown and was possibly the first one installed in America.

This method of crushing proved to be so great an improvement over the old one of stamping the rock that it has been very generally adopted in all concentrating plants.

The great difficulty experienced in the separation of ores is met in the sizing or screening. There will always be a percentage of dust or slimes, simply from the fact that the same pressure will pulverize the mineral into smaller particles than the quartz or other gangue.

In ores similar to the Joplin and Marion lead and zinc where the mineral is in large crystals or cubes, the rock should only be crushed to make a clearance between the mineral and its gangue. In other words the mineral should be all mineral, and the rock all rock, and the first crushing should leave these particles as large as the crystals or cubes will permit. There will still be a percentage of material of practically the same size where particles of ore are still in contact with rock. This may be termed middlings. These larger particles of mineral and rock are now fed to the jigs in a regular positive way, and the separation is almost perfectly made. The middlings are separated by themselves and are conveyed back to the rolls where a finer crushing is effected that makes the ore cleavage from the rock.

Possibly 80 per cent of the crushed material is of large enough size, of sufficient positive specific gravity to be treated in jigs to advantage. The remaining 20 per cent of the material, carrying a much greater value per ton from the fact of the ore crushing finer than the rock, is not adapted to coarse jigging, but should be taken directly to a finer class of machinery, preferably some good slime tables, although the Frue Vanner, an endless belt on which the ore and water is fed at the upper end does good service on many classes of ore.

The matter of first class work in this district, so far as separation goes, should have for the coarse material a good type of the Joplin jig and for the finer material the class of machinery mentioned.

The guarantees of manufacturers of jigs that tailings will not average a loss of over one or two per cent hardly fills the bill. The only true way to ascertain the loss in the dressing or cleaning of ores is to have a sample of the original material made and assayed, the concentrates weighed and assayed also, the loss is then easily ascertained, for certainly what is not in the concentrates is lost somewhere, and the fact that it may still be in the tailings or settling pool is of but small consolation to the mill owner.

Today in Joplin the "chatters" are using tables and other methods to save values in the immense tonnage of tailings that accumulate around the jigs, and this fact in itself shows the imperfect methods that are in vogue in that city.

It is so much cheaper to do things right at the start and certainly so much easier to handle ore material once and have done with it, that the Press hopes that the mills about to be erected here will take into careful consideration some of the points here noted.

The Courier of Evansville says that W. W. Benson, of Philadelphia has purchased 25,000 acres of coal land known as the Heath Mountain tract in this county. The sellers were represented by Blue & Nunn of this city.

The increased receipts of the Marion post office the present fiscal year will likely result in advancing the rating of the office to a higher salaried basis. We are very proud of this and it marks the progress of the district, both intellectually and financially. The use of postage stamps is a pretty sure index of not only the character of a people but of their well being and well doing.

We can not afford to go much longer on the basis of a cross-roads mail station. A Sunday service has long been a wanted convenience, it has reached a point where it is an absolute necessity. The double mail on Monday mornings means too great a loss of time to the scores of waiting business men.

It seems positively absurd that a city of the size of Marion has so long been content with its lack of postal facilities on Sunday. We do not recall the name of a place doing half the business that is not provided with a mail service on the first day of the week as well as on the other six.

It is asserted in the Louisville journals that Mr. Garrett, the promoter of the Seacoast Mining company, has applied for a receiver for that corporation. There has evidently been more or less friction in the directory for some months, but it was hoped that the successful showing made on the initial run by the Krom concentrators in the company's plant at Paducah would pour oil on the troubled waters. That this has not been the case is shown by Mr. Garrett's actions in seeking a receivership.

As the Press understands it the Krom machines are open to purchase from the manufacturers in New York by any one desiring them, although it has been heretofore stated that Mr. Garrett owned or controlled the patents in this district if not throughout the state absolutely.

The boulevarding of Mary street crossing Oak, Poplar, Maple and Sycamore Avenues in the Reed addition to Marion will be started as soon as the ground is in shape to work. Lumber will be on the ground to erect dwellings on all four of these Avenues as soon as the approaches can be constructed. A very busy time is anticipated in this part of the city during the next few months, and with the big mining work on the 23 acres of land owned by the company soon to commence, a store or two in that vicinity would be a paying investment. As soon as this mining work commences the price of lots and shares will be largely advanced.

The drift from the 150 foot level of the Columbia mine shows at 50 feet from the shaft a 12 foot breast of lead and zinc ore. At the present time 13 foot stulls are a necessity. Two men are breaking and sending up fully eighteen tons of this ore each shift. The great magnitude of the ore body of the Columbia can scarcely be estimated.

The new office building of the Columbia mine and five new dwelling houses for the miners are in rapid course of construction and will add materially to the comfort of both officials and employees.

Harry Watkins has been promoted to the rank of Admiral. He navigates the waters that cover the earth in such a seamanlike way, and makes the numerous ports that he is chartered to on such good time that he deserves the advance in grade from an ordinary captain. It is now Admiral Watkins and he sets sail every morning for the port of Hodge and Yandell and Brown and returns via Mexico and Crayneville, with calls along the bank whenever a freight of fluor spar is visible.

The Wilson Mining company will this week erect their Colorado steel whim over their Crittenden Springs shaft. Major Clement has also one of the same hoists, complete, with both iron bound water and ore buckets, which he will place over the shaft at his prospect at the foot of the same hill on which the Wilson company are mining. These whims are in almost universal use in Colorado for prospecting purposes and answer admirably for a depth of 150 feet. They cost here about $150,

The building up of the Reed addition to Marion is now one of the current topics of conversation. An admirable movement, headed by Mr. Rob Haynes, the druggist, to associate half a dozen gentlemen friends and purchase an entire block of 14 lots for the purpose of building themselves handsome homes on a very slightly portion of this addition is the latest development. Mr. Geo. C. Hughes of Paducah has the same idea for a number of Paducah people, and will likely be over here to select the location some day this week. The movement of lots and the 1,000 shares of stock to each purchaser has been on a very extensive scale during the week just passed. Messrs Wilson & Burritt, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., are also in negotiation for an entire block, and take it all in all the week has been a very successful one.

It is quite probable that Messrs Sayre & Steinmiz, of Marion, will take over the J. F. Harth coal land, situated above DeKoven a mile and a half. The entries on the No. 9 vein are directly on the Illinois Central railroad, and the Ohio river is but little over a mile from this point. The acreage is something over 1300. The No. 9 vein of five feet, No. 10 of three feet and No. 11, a three foot vein of cannel coal, all outcrop, while every vein above No. 5 is workable by a slope. Number three, the Bell coal vein underlying some 800 acres, is reached by a shaft. It looks to be one of the best coal properties in the country.

The Overstrom tables, under the admirable adjustment of Mr. Keene are producing the highest grades of carbonate of zinc product from the sands and slimes that the log washers at the Old Jim mine sets free. It has long been a disputed point with both mill men and ore buyers as to the concentration of carbonate sands. Specific gravity here as elsewhere in concentrating methods asserts itself and the headings from these tables are singularly free from foreign matter and will analyze fully as high in metallic zinc as the very finest grade of ore that the Old Jim produces. It is really a triumph in rapid mechanical separation and all concerned are to be congratulated.

The Rev. Mr. Montgomery, a gentleman who has been of very essential service in the making of our mining interests known abroad is about to take up his residence just across the Ohio river from us in Elizabethtown, Ill.

Mr. Montgomery is of that sanguine temperament that causes the world, socially, to be full of sunshine and kindly deeds; he is an optimist and without such men but little progress would be possible in any line.

For some months past he has been acquiring property in the Illinois district until fully 2,000 acres, much of which shows ores of zinc and lead, has been secured. It is his purpose to develop this large property into the highest state of productiveness.

The good wishes of the Press follow him.

It has been suggested as a possible solution of the good roads problem between Salem and Marion that each farmer whose land fronts on this road, quarry and break sufficient limestone to cover the road to a depth sufficient to remedy the bottomless pits that now prevail along nearly the entire 12 miles. This work could be done when other duties were not pressing, and the two county judges would probably take care of the hauling, ditching and rounding up of the road bed. A mile, even, of such a road would be a powerful incentive to turnpike the entire distance.

The water from the old Lucile shaft on the railroad broke through to the great 8x16 working shaft and completely flooded it. This will delay the work until a much larger pump than any heretofore in use there can be installed. A six inch cornish pump would probably fill the bill and avoid any delay from water in the future. Mr. Finley will have things in working shape again as quickly as the railroad trains can bring the necessary equipment.

When the streets are taken up with dancing bears, hurdy-gurdys, monstrosities in the way of turtle boys, sellers of cheap jewelry and low priced handkerchiefs, and the score of other things put up to extract money from the good natured miners, then we are pretty close to being a mining town. That was the condition last Saturday.

The Kentucky Fluor Spar company have located the Pogue vein of fluor spar on their Cleary land and are taking it from their deep shaft on that property in very considerable quantities. Fluorspar and Harry Watkins seem to have an affinity, one for the other; any how it seems to be difficult for any strong vein of that mineral to escape him, either above or below ground.

Mr. J. M. Hardesty, whose farm is just above Milford, states that he has found carbonate of zinc at 12 feet depth between Quartzite and Princeton limestone walls. This is likely a continuation of the Mann vein. Somebody will secure a fine zinc property in the section around Lola and Milford, before many weeks, judging from the results already achieved.

Mr. J. C. Cooper, of Hopkinsville, who is largely interested in the Marion Mineral company, was in the city last week accompanied by Mrs. Cooper. We are pleased to note that the ladies are taking an interest in the mining situation here.

Mr. C. C. Thomas of Evansville has secured options on some 300 acres of coal land in Morganfield, and will prospect by drilling. In case a favorable showing is made a shaft will be sunk and Morganfield's second coal mine will be established.

Saturday last was the pay day of the Columbia Mining company, the Kentucky Fluor Spar company, and the Mineral Point Zinc company, the result being that a good many thousand dollars were put in more general circulation.

We are having a very practical application of Auntie Stillwell's sermon the other night regarding Noah and his Ark, and the opening of the rain gates and the flooding of the earth. It is really too practical to be pleasant.

The Mineral Point Zinc company's Memphis shaft is now down some 160 feet, with the pay streak of zinc blende continually widening.

The Statesmanship of Thomas Jefferson.

Oration delivered by Mr. Coleman Haynes, winner of second medal in Oratorical Contest, Feb. 25.

See yonder at the mouth of the turbulent Missouri, by the mistress of the Father of Waters, and in the imperial city of St. Louis will rise a magic Exposition of a Nation's wealth.

The orient will bring its splendor and the occident its vigor, but neither shall have power to eclipse in fame a young domain—a younger dominion whose name, the Louisiana Purchase, shall be upon the lips of every one; and when the myriads of earth shall meditate upon this name and its meaning then will history again uncover its brow, stand with bowed head and pay its tribute to the Statesmanship of Jefferson.

Upon an occasion like this, when the American people are called around the altar of their country to offer oblation to those first Fathers, who wrought so wisely and so well, how stately, how glowing, how matchless do the deeds of Jefferson appear!

Wherever Jefferson was there always found a soul devoted to the cause, power to defend and maintain it, and willingness to protect it at all hazards. So earnest was he that he gave up his practice of law and made the life and death of his country the all important issue.

In his work in the Virginia Assembly he fought through three Bills directly concerning more questions of law, but determining the future of the country more largely than any other acts—even the acts of Washington himself. Those three Bills, one for the separation of Church and State, one for the annulling of primogeniture, the third for the abolition of entail.

In June, 1775, when Mr. Jefferson took his seat in the Continental Congress, he was preceded by the fame of being one of the most accomplished champions of the cause, and this fame he renewed and added to by his unexcelled power with the pen. This power brought upon him the honor of writing the Declaration of Independence.

What thoughts must have crowded on the mind of Jefferson when he penned that immortal paper! Firm in the conviction of the righteousness of his country's cause he went earnestly to work, his pen guided as it seemed by inspiration.

The Declaration of Independence is one of the sublime political documents ever written and it alone should be sufficient to stamp Thomas Jefferson's name with immortality.

It was when a representative government was an experiment that he wrote that document which declared that among the self-evident truths were those that all men are created equal; that they are endowed with inalienable rights; that governments are instituted among men to preserve these rights, and that Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. In stating those four propositions he stated the alpha and omega of all free governments.

No statesman ever lived who more fully understood human nature than Thomas Jefferson; no one more fully understood the capacity of the people for self-government; no one more fully understood the dangers to be guarded against. He stated the principles which underlie all free governments, and then he applied those principles to every question which arose during his time. We today are inventing no new principles, we are simply applying new conditions to those principles which must live so long as our people retain their love for our form of government.

Mr. Jefferson's discharge of his diplomatic duties was marked by great ability, diligence and patriotism. While he resided in Paris he was distinguished in the highest circles of the French capital, by his political knowledge. No Minister then in Paris commanded or enjoyed a higher regard than did the Minister, from this then infant Republic.

Although Jefferson was a master of political craft, he did not trim his sails to every flaw on the ocean, but waited through the long, unpromising days, with a noble patience, the powerful and steady gale he was sure would carry the Nation on its true course. His time came during 1793, during his first administration by the purchase of Louisiana. It seems incredible that this acquisition was denounced with bitterness surpassing the partisan rancor with which later generations have been familiar. No abuse was too malignant, no epithet too coarse, no imprecation too savage to be employed by the assailants of the great Philosophical Statesman who laid so broad and deep the foundation of his country's growth and grandeur. President of a feeble Republic, contending for a prize which was held by the greatest military power of Europe, and whose possession was coveted by the greatest naval power of the world.

Mr. Jefferson so conducted negotiations that he placed the ambition of the United States successfully between the necessities of the one and the aggressive design of the other; willing to side with either of these great powers for the advantage of his own country, not underrating the dangers of war, yet ready to engage in it for the control of the great water way to the Gulf, the President made the largest conquest ever peacefully achieved, and at a cost so small that the total sum expended for the entire Territory does not equal the revenue which has since been collected on its soil in a single month in time of greatest peril.

England's acquisition would have proved in the highest degree disastrous to the Union. If Louisiana had been seized by her from Napoleon, as Jefferson feared, Florida soon after cut off from the other possessions of Spain by easy and prompt negotiation would have fallen into her hands, as they did into the hands of the United States a few years after. England would have had her colonies planted on three land sides of the Union, while on the front her formidable navy confronted the young Republic.

But fortunately we had a President who was far sighted enough to see the dangers to be guarded against, and by the acquisition of Louisiana brought incalculable wealth, power and prestige to the Union, and must always be regarded as the master stroke of policy which advanced the United States from a comparatively feeble Nation lying between the Atlantic and the Mississippi to a continental power of assured strength and boundless promise.

No statesman ever lived in any age who impressed on mankind his own sentiments in regard to politics and government, or infused his own opinions more deeply into the opinions of others, or given a more lasting impression to the current of human thought, than

Thomas Jefferson. So great are his works that the Father of his country could say without envy that yonder are the works which are destined to reach the Heavens from which the inspiration came.

Thomas Jefferson's statesmanship must indeed be safe. Although no sculptured marble should rise to his memory, nor engraved stone bear record of his deeds, yet may his remembrance be as lasting as the land he honored. Marble columns may indeed moulder into dust, time may erase all impress from the crumbling stone, but may his lessons remain; for with American liberty they rose, and may it be with American liberty only that they can perish. It was the last swelling peal of yonder choir: "His body is buried in peace, but may his fame live ever more."

I catch that solemn song, I echo that lofty strain of funeral triumph: "Let us reverence the statesmanship of Jefferson ever more."

FASHION HINTS.

That fashions are undergoing material change is shown by the tendencies toward very full skirts, buffant sleeves, and sashes of flowered ribbon. Nearly all the new modes are in some way characterized by the stole effects and tucks, in some form or other, are introduced in many designs.

Linen gowns are conspicuous among the smartest modes, and those who desire novelty in these costumes will take advantage of what are termed the knickerbocker designs. Mercerized effects are a feature not only of the new linens, but almost of the entire array of Summer fabrics.

Foulard silks, tussore silks and pongees are more in evidence than ever, and the new shirt waist materials surpass anything previous seasons have produced.

Very popular is the shirt waist costume, which is fashioned in silk and light woollens and wash goods the decoration depending largely upon the individual taste.

Waists and skirts of the same material are more fashionable than when made of different goods.

The dainty dresses of sheer fabrics for Summer wear will be characterized by lingerie tucks and lace insertion.

Lace is now embellished with another decoration or lined with chiffon, soft silk or satin, to make it more effective. The popularity of antique laces is remarkable.

Braids were never so attractive as they are this season; the fibre of vegetable braid is especially fashionable.—From The Delineator for April.

SMALLPOX AT CADIZ.

There are a number of new cases of smallpox in Trigg county, but there are only three cases in Cadiz. The disease, however, is in a very mild form. The city council have made an appropriation to fight the disease. They also passed an ordinance compelling every one in town to be vaccinated.

STRANGE STORY.

The Bardwell News says: Matt Hutson has in his possession a lock of hair that since its removal from the head of a dead man fifty four years, has grown about one inch.

Mr. Hutson tells us that more than half a century ago Harvey Aterbury, his wife's father, died, and a lock of his hair was wrapped in a piece of paper. A short time ago, he says, they had occasion to open the paper and to their surprise they found that the hair had grown about an inch in length.

Mr. Hutson is a reputable citizen and is prepared to prove the correctness of his statement the position of the hair in a piece of paper.

FOR HIGHER WAGES.

Railroad Men Preparing for a Concerted Demand.

The Chicago Record-Herald says: Early in May a concerted demand will be made by the trainmen of all railroads centering in Chicago for an increase in wages, amounting to between 12 and 15 per cent. Preceding their visit to Chicago, the trainmen's committee are making a similar demand upon the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern railroad.

They will ask that the pay of conductors and brakemen of the through, local and way freights mixed and work trains be increased 15 per cent, with pro rata for over time, and that passenger conductors, brakemen, flagmen, and train porters be given a 12 per cent. advance. Recent settlements upon this basis have been made with the Union Pacific and part of the Santa Fe road, and it is expected the Hill lines will meet the advanced schedules. The movement will affect many thousand men, and the railroad managements are comparing notes with a view of standing together in the replies made to the demands.

SWALLOWED UP.

By the Ocean in sight of a California Lighthouse.

San Francisco, March 15. A great mystery attaches to the disappearance and identity of a ship which is reported to have sent up signals of distress off Point Reyes last night, and which suddenly disappeared as if swallowed up by the sea. Just before her disappearance the observer says the steam siren of the distressed vessel sounded three long blasts and lanterns were swung on the port side in a frantic manner, indicating that great excitement must have prevailed on board the steamer. To the watchers at the Point Reyes lighthouse, it looked as if those on board were preparing to disembark. Capt. Jorgenson, of the lighthouse, ordered his crew to get a lifeboat ready, and with his men launched the boat and spent several hours cruising in the vicinity of the spot where the steamer is supposed to have gone down, but nothing to indicate a wreck was found. The steamer Columbia, from Portland, Oregon, arrived today and her commander saw no wreckage or any other indication that a vessel had gone to the bottom.

TRANSPLANTING TREES.

In transplanting trees care should be taken to protect the roots as much as possible. Cut back the tops to correspond with the loss of roots. Autumn, about the time that the leaves fall, is a good time to transplant trees, but better results will be had from early spring setting, because trees transplanted in the spring, when everything is springing into life, when the sap is up, give the trees a tendency to grow. While transplanted in the fall there is loss of roots, besides the trees have to stand the blunt of the winter, which dries and withers them to some extent, and when spring does open they haven't much life and it takes them much longer to start to growing. Plant crops in the orchard to get cultivation while the trees are young. When farmers learn to cultivate their orchards, and to fertilize them thoroughly, just as they do grain crops they will find them vigorous and producing bountifully. Throw soapuds and dishwater around fruit trees, currants, gooseberries, it will be valuable to them, in killing insects, besides enriching the soil.

Operators and Miners Adjourn to Louisville.

Paducah, Ky., March 12.—Without reaching an agreement for the wage scale for the year beginning April 1, next, the joint conference of the West Kentucky miners and operators was brought to a sudden close after a brief session to meet in Louisville on March 24. When the meeting opened the operators were asked to submit a proposition that the operators would offer the scale now in force. J. D. Wood, National Executive Committee-man of the miners, and their spokesman replied that the miners would not accept, and if they had no better proposition to offer the conference had just as well end. He also issued an ultimatum that unless a satisfactory increase was granted the miners, the mines in West Kentucky would be closed April 1. The miners asked for the Indianapolis scale. The operators then suggested that the conference adjourn to meet in Louisville on March 24.

Operator W. G. Duncan said a better scale would probably be offered them. National Committee-man Farley, of Alabama, and Vasey, of Tennessee, stated the miners would again demand the Indianapolis scale at Louisville, and the former said if an agreement was not reached then the mines would probably be shut down pending further negotiations. Both sides agreed to meet in Louisville.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY NEWS.

(From the Banner.)

Rev. J. S. Miller has been quite sick for several days but is much improved. As soon as he is able he will go to Princeton to live. Bro. Miller is well liked by all our citizens who are reluctant to give him up.

B. Davis, of Hampton, will soon move to Ballard county. Mr. Davis is one of the best known and most popular farmers of the county, and his many friends regret that he will leave.

DANGER.

Grave Fears of Destruction in the Lower Mississippi.

A dispatch from Donaldsonville, La., states that grave fears are entertained of an impending break in the Arlington levee at Baton Rouge. Should the levee give way all the New river section would be flooded and immense damage follow.

The situation at New Orleans is also very grave. The river has reached the top of the levee and thousands of men are at work trying to strengthen it. The continued rains have weakened the levee greatly. A break in the levee at New Orleans would inundate that city to the depth of thirty feet.

Armed guards patrol the levee in almost an unbroken line from Memphis to New Orleans, and never before in the history of high water have so many precautions been taken to guard against loss of life and property. The only hope seems to be the strengthening all weak points on the levee with sand bags.

A HAMMER

Was the Weapon Used by a Sex-tuple Murderer.

St. Louis, March 14.—Adolph Krause, a farmer living near Bellfontaine, last night killed his wife and six children, with a sledge hammer. He then knooked himself unconscious with the hammer and at midnight was dying.

It is believed Krause suddenly became insane. He had the reputation among his neighbors of being a quiet, inoffensive, industrious farmer.

From all that could be learned, Krause entered the house some time yesterday afternoon armed with a sledge hammer. Without warning he struck his wife on the head, killing her instantly; then seizing his first child, twelve years old, whom he dealt a fatal blow.

The other five children were killed similarly, the youngest being a six months old babe.

Krause then placed the seven bodies side by side on the floor in one room, seized the hammer and dealt himself a blow on the head. He fell unconscious almost in line with his victims. The police were summoned and the bodies taken charge of.

WIFE'S LOVE REGAINED.

Indiann Man's Generosity Stops a Divorce Suit.

It cost Frank Kingsee, of Kokomo, Ind., $9,000 worth of property to regain the affection of his wife, and put an end to her suit for divorce in the circuit court. Mrs. Kingsee was proceeding rapidly under the guidance of her attorney to complete the necessary formalities when Mr. Kingsee's attorney informed her that his client, as an evidence of his interest in her welfare had executed a deed to her of all his property. This sudden and unexpected generosity was too much for the plaintiff, and as soon as suit could be withdrawn Kingsee recovered both wife and property.

WHITECAPS

Under Arrest For the Murder of a Detective.

Memphis, Tenn., March 12.—Eleven alleged whitecaps are under arrest at Wayne, Ark., charged with the murder of Capt. J. H. Brown, a private detective of Memphis. The prisoners are Pink Hall, Filmore Hall, Wesley Hall, Thomas Hall, Robert Hall, J. D. Sullivan, George Sullivan, J. W. Smith, Dave Henderson, John Meek and Luke Cowen. They are all substantial farmers of the White Chapel neighborhood. The utmost secrecy prevails about the room where the coroner's jury is at work, newspaper men and the general public not being allowed to enter. Capt. Brown's body was buried at Forrest Hill cemetery. Detective E. P. Panish accompanied the remains to Memphis and gave additional details of the tragedy. When the whitecaps became so bold in their warnings to the negroes, wealthy planters contributed to a large purse and employed six detectives to hunt down the band. These detectives were from Memphis and Louisville and were getting hot on the trail of the whitecaps when the killing occurred. For obvious reasons the names of the other detectives are withheld.

H. C. Campbell of Louisville, it was learned, is one of the detectives working on the whitecapping case.

TO BECOME A MORMON.

Methodist Minister Deserts Wife and Gives Her His Property

Rev. D. T. Hedges, of East Connelville, Ind., who left home saying he was going to Indiana to visit his son, has sent a letter to his wife from that city, in which he said he was going to Utah to become a Mormon. He directed his wife to take possession of his property, and dispose of it as she pleases. He said he would never return home, as his conscience forbade it.

Rev. F. S. Tinscher, presiding elder of the district, has had a letter from Mr. Hedges, in which he resigned his connection with the Everton circuit.

Mr. Hedges is well known as a Methodist minister. He has been pastor of the old church in East Connelville for four years. Besides his wife he left two grown daughters.

REVEALS BIG PLOT.

A convicted prisoner who, overcome by remembrance of kindly treatment he had received at the Sanganon county jail officers, revealed to the deputy sheriff having him in charge en route to Chester, the plot to blow up the jail at Springfield, Ill., and liberate or kill the inmates.

The prisoner detailed to his custodian the entire plot, and gave all the information in his power, so that a search would lead to the discovery of the hidden dynamite, with which it was planned to effect the delivery.

The convict urged the deputy sheriff to lose no time in warning the jail officials of the plot and to guard against it. Telegrams were sent from the train at Alton, giving warning of the plot to destroy the jail.

GENUINE BULL FIGHT.

Parts of Trousers Won By 'Black Diamond.'

New York, March 12.—Black Diamond, the big bull buffalo of Central Park, help to give a very vivid imitation this afternoon of a Spanish bull fight, in which William Snyder and Philip Holmes, two of the keepers at the park narrowly escaped being gored. Snyder's trousers did not escape, and Black Diamond carried a patch from them on one of his long horns.

The men were trying to shift Black Diamond from the pen in which he has been kept by himself of late to the one in which are kept the three cows. Patsy, the calf born recently and who is very pugnacious, was got safely out of the way, and the men started to bring in Black Diamond.

Without any warning he charged. Snyder made for the fence and scrambled over it just as the bull's horns ripped through his trousers. Holmes, meanwhile, was trying to get into the shed in the buffalo yard. He succeeded, although the buffalo charged there also.

Other keepers ran to help the two men, and with the aid of police Black Diamond was prodded and driven into the proper enclosure, but not until he had charged the gate between the two pens and smashed it. He was kept away from the broken gate until it could be patched up and then he quieted down. A big crowd watched the episode with great interest.

NO BETTING.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Kentucky State Fair, it was unanimously decided that no horse racing with betting would be permitted at the State Fair to be held at Owensboro on Sept. 21 to 26. A petition, signed by many ministers and laymen, was presented, protesting against racing and betting. Mr. L. L. Dorsey, president of the Fair Association, said there had never been any determination to have horse racing or betting.

The premium list for the Fair was adopted. The catalogue will shortly be printed.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE.

We are authorized to announce
JUDGE J. F. GORDON, of Hopkins county, for Circuit Judge in the Fourth Judicial district, subject to the action of the Democratic party, Election November 1903.

FOR COMMONWEALTH ATTORNEY

We are authorized to announce
JOHN L. GRAYOT,
of Smithland, as a candidate for re-election to the office of Commonwealth's Attorney of the Fourth Judicial district, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary to be held on May 9th, 1903.

The new circuit judge adorns the bench, please the bar, and is pleasant to look upon.

We may lament the decay of the once great river traffic, but occasionally the Ohio and Mississippi rise to the occasion.

A few rays of sunshine, properly directed, can do more good work in a day than a crew with dull hoes and slow shovels can accomplish in three.

In several counties the committees have found plenty of volunteers to hold the primary election without charge, but injunction suits to prevent this may reasonably be expected.

Down in this neck of the woods
there is a well defined disposition to make the nomination of Judge Gordon and John Grayot, for circuit judge and commonwealth attorney respectively, unanimous.

If that pest house guard in Bourbon county who shot and killed a smallpox patient because the latter was trying to escape, don't get justice in this world, he ought to meet that case of small-pox later on.

According to late unofficial returns, only twenty-six members of the United States Senate are millionaires. Russell A. Alger and Geo. P. Wetmore head the list with $20,000,000 each. Dewey is credited with only a paltry $2,000, 000.

The case to test the eligibility of Gov. Beckham for re-election, and that to test the authority of the State committee to call a primary election are being argued before the court of Appeals today.
As we watch for the decision with interest, let everybody disarm and prepare to sign the protocol.

At the Jackson-day banquet at Chicago Monday, one of the principal speakers declared that a presidential candidate could only be taken from among those who had loyally supported the party in 1896 and 1900, and he might have added that those who advocate any other course have no hope of winning.

This appears to be the age of discoveries and powerful surprises. Even something has been found to head off the Louisville lawyer. A Federal Judge at Indianapolis has sentenced Messrs.
Snobs and Watts to prison for contempt and the surprising feature is that he actually has them in jail.

The war department will publish a complete roster of the officers and enlisted men of the Union and Confederate armies. The publication will comprise thirty large volumes. It will be a valuable addition to the war records of the country, and the embracing of them in the same publication will accentuate the fact that the late unpleasantness is over, and that those who fought for what they believed was right, no matter the color of their clothes, are on the "roll of honor," as viewed in history.

JOHN L. GRAYOT.

This paper contains the formal announcement of Hon. John L.
Grayot, as a candidate for re-election as Commonwealth's Attorney.
Mr. Grayot's record is a source of gratification to his party and his friends generally in the district.
No public official has shown greater fidelity to a trust, or has been more successful in the discharge of duty. Personally he is one of the most popular men in official life, and it is not surprising that there is in his party in this county a universal desire for his re-election.

Mrs. L. G. Koltinsky is preparing for her spring opening of millinery goods. She occupies the building east of Clifton; formerly occupied by Fohs, the tailor. Mrs. Koltinsky selected a large and very pretty line of millinery, while in Louisville, and the ladies will find her stock complete. A more beautiful selection of hats and notions have never been brought to this city.

The display of Easter Millinery by Mrs. Kittinger in her new quarters, in the Cook hotel building is quite equal to a much more pretentious city. A hat in black and white, the latter predominating, is a dream in flowers and laces. An entire white created by Miss Rubie Castleberry shows an artistic taste that is rarely met with outside of Paris. The composition of an elegant affair in blended colors by the same talented lady is very greatly admired. Indeed, the entire display is much above the average spring showings and does credit to the exquisite taste of Mrs. Kittinger.

Drs. W. W. Richmond and J. R. Scarborough, physicians of Clinton, came to this city Saturday to assist in organizing the Crittenden County Medical Society. Owing to the condition of the roads the meeting was not largely attended. An organization was perfected. The society extends an invitation to all physicians to attend the meeting on April 7th for the purpose of electing a delegate to the State association. The society is governed by the same laws that govern the state association and a member of the local society is entitled to membership in the state organization.

For Judge and Commonwealth Attorney to be Selected By Primary.

A call has been issued by the chairmen of the county committees for a primary election to be held on May 9th, the date of the state primary, in the counties of Caldwell, Crittenden, Hopkins and Livingston for the purpose of nominating candidates for the offices of circuit judge and commonwealth's attorney.

The primary will be held under the laws of the state. An assessment of $400 is made against each of the two offices. A LETTUCE HOUSE.

A Commercial Building For Growing Early Lettuce and Radishes.
During January market gardeners sow lettuce and radishes under glass, to come into market in April. A commercial house for this purpose is described by Rural New Yorker, which advises as follows:

While lettuce and radishes can be fairly well grown with bottom heat, under glass, the best success is usually attained with solid benches on the ground, which may be made twelve to eighteen inches deep, the sides being boarded up with two inch hemlock, cypress or other durable kind of lumber or a single course of brick if preferred. Nine or ten inches is deep enough for this soil. The beds may be filled up to that point with cinders, coarse gravel or brickbats, to afford free drainage and discourage the inroads of moles, earthworms, etc. In this case the steam or water heating pipes must of necessity be carried about the walls of the house above the plant levels.

With a proper air temperature, ranging from 40 to 45 degrees at night to 55 or 65 degrees in the shade during the day, the soil will remain in a cool and moist condition, just suited to the needs of lettuce, for a considerable time with the minimum of attention. The addition of a layer of fresh manure, four inches or more deep, under the soil would be of very doubtful advantage in the case of lettuce. Radishes find a somewhat higher soil temperature congenial, but quickly become drawn and weak if the average atmospheric temperature is raised much higher than the figures above given.

A house 18 by 180 feet can be safely heated to the required temperature with hot water circulation by conveying the flow through a three inch pipe near the top of the house to the rear end, then forking and dividing it into seven one and a half inch returns, three on the south and four on the north wall, or, if steam is used, the respective diameters may be two and a half and one and a quarter inches for the flow and returns. The three-quarter span house running east and west is by far the best plan. Whether the short span be the best placed south or north is still a matter of opinion. Nine out of ten houses are built with the long slope to the south. The only special advantage claimed for the other arrangement is that the houses are cooler in summer.

When raised benches are used, the distance of the pipes from the benches is a matter of little importance. As a slope must be maintained the pipes are much nearer the benches at one end of the house than the other in any case.

THE METHODIZER.

Thoroughly informed, quick to stop losses and increase profits.

"A methodizer," says a writer in the Saturday Evening Post, "acts as a physician to commercial patients, makes a searching examination of a business, demands of its proprietors their fullest confidence in giving him a clear view of its conditions and then prescribes a series of changes in the system by which the business is conducted."

What the methodizer most often finds is a clinging to old and antiquated ways. He naturally first examines the books of the concern. These may show what is the matter or they may be so kept as to fail to show conditions which must be known before the cause of the lack of success can be discovered. The methodizer's remedy for this case is not hard to guess. It is a modern keeping of accounts. If the methodizer does his client any good, he does it by getting him out of the ruts in which the majority of cases he has been travelling, shows him where to apply the strenuous effort, how to use his energies and his resources according to modern methods.

A Suggestive Fact For the Farmer.

Possibly the professional methodizer will not immediately receive calls from farmers. But the fact that these shrewd detectives of the causes of lack of success in business and manufacturing are able to rejuvenate almost dead concerns and put them in the way of rendering valuable services to mankind for which mankind is willing to award them abundant prosperity, this fact ought to suggest to the farmer who has made only a moderate success that a careful examination of his methods, conducted by himself and wife with the assistance of the older children, may point to the use of some "home remedies" with good results.

Profit and Loss Accounts.

In a majority of cases the farmer who wishes he were in the class of the eminently successful will find that he has neglected entirely the important matter of keeping books. Now, keeping books consists not merely in making a rigid account of household expenses. Important as this is, it may much better be omitted than may those accounts which show how much a product costs to produce it and market it and how much was received for it. Such a record will necessarily show the dates of all that is done on the farm. This record of dates is in itself most valuable.—Kansas Farmer.

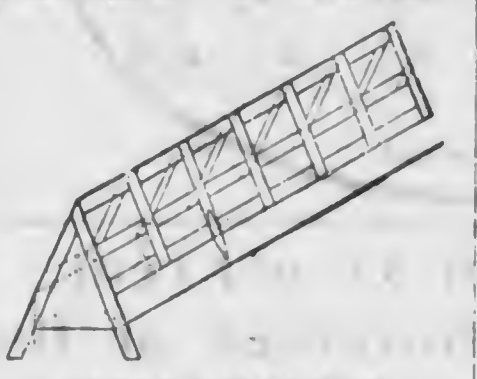

SHEEP TROUGH AND RACK.

A Good Combination Device For Use When Feeding Drains.

When feeding their sheep grain, people may make and try a dozen different kinds of feeding racks and not find one better than the one here illustrated, says a National Stockman correspondent, who describes the rack as follows: Last winter after making some like the plans given in farm papers my hired man and I set out to make one to suit our own fancy, and it comes nearer my ideal of a good trough than any I have ever seen or tried. Yet there is one objection which is rarely overcome in any combined feed trough and rack. The young lambs persist in using it for a safe place in which to take their morning nap, and no matter how nicely their own little parlor is furnished with dainty feed and bedding they delight to spend part of their time on the dining table of the old sheep.

The trough is made of inch poplar lumber, with the exception of the slats on the rack, which are of elm, a half inch thick and two and a half inches wide. The trough is 12 feet long, 16 inches wide, 22 inches high and from the top of the sides it is tapered to a point. The sides are six inch boards, nailed on the edge of the bottom, thus making it five inches deep. The legs are three inches wide and extend six inches below the bottom. These, nailed to the ends and made flush with the sloping part, make the base about twenty-six inches wide, which insures it against being turned over by the sheep.

The rack part is made by nailing the slats, which are nineteen inches long, one foot apart on pieces 3 inches wide and 12 feet long. These racks are hinged to the sides of the trough so that they rest on the ends of the trough when closed. On the upper part of the rack, at either end, a small chain about two feet long is fastened, and on the other half of the rack there is a hook to secure the chain. Either side of the rack may be opened full length of the chain or at any width desired.

ONE-HALF OF SHEEP TROUGH.

When closed, the chains hold the rack in place. The advantage of having it in this way is the convenience in filling it from either side. The sheep have to eat from the top, and they cannot get the seed and dirt in the wool on their head and neck.

As all parts of the rack are rounded and made smooth the sheep do not rub off the wool from their necks and become ragged. If it were not for teaching the sheep to jump, the rack need not be made so high, but it is better that they should never get in the habit of jumping, as it is very injurious to them and might be the cause of losing many lambs.

Corn Planting Experiments.

At the North Dakota experiment station experiments in thickness of planting showed the largest yields of fodder from corn planted in hills in rows twenty-two inches apart. Drilled corn produced more fodder than corn planted in hills in rows forty-four inches apart, but the largest yield of ears was obtained from planting in hills. Corn sowed broadcast did not yield as well as corn sowed in drills. Drilling corn six inches apart in rows three and a half feet apart gave the best average total yield for two years. In this experiment the yield decreased almost regularly with an increase of the distance between the plants in the row. Planting six kernels in a hill gave a larger yield of fodder and ears than planting a smaller number of kernels. As to depth of planting, two and four inches gave the best results.

Improved Sugar Cane.

Professor Stubbs of the Audubon Park experiment station, New Orleans, has introduced to the sugar planters of Louisiana a new seedling cane grown from seed imported from Demerara. A test of this cane grown on the station grounds gave for the new cane 144 pounds of finest sugar per ton of cane, while the purple and striped canes yielded 111.2 pounds per ton. Sixty tons of this cane have been distributed to the planters of the state. Indications are that the improved cane will gradually supersede the kinds heretofore grown.—Farm and Ranch.

News and Notes.

"Agricultural education" represents one of the great interests of the present.

Alcohol from the Jerusalem artichoke is the latest suggestion.

The first of its kind in America and perhaps in the world is the new County School of Agriculture in Dunn county, Wis.

The farmers of this country own about 500,000,000 acres of woodland, ten times the acreage of all the federal forest reserves. Most of it consists of small wood lots from which the owners derive their timber supplies for farm purposes.

The practice of sterilizing the soil with steam for greenhouse or cold frame work is coming more and more in vogue with large market gardeners, according to Farm and Fireside.

Kalamazoo is now reported a famous center of the peppermint oil industry.

How He Knew.

It was a contested will case, and one of the witnesses in the course of giving his evidence described the testator minutely.

"Now, sir," said counsel for the defense, "I suppose we may take it, from the flattering description you have given of the testator, his good points and his personal appearance generally, that you were intimately acquainted with him?"

"Him?" exclaimed the witness. "He was no acquaintance of mine."

"Indeed! Well, then, you must have observed him very carefully whenever you saw him?" pursued the examining counsel.

"I never saw him in my life," was the reply.

"Now, now, don't trifle with the court, please. How, I ask you, did you, in the name of goodness, describe him so minutely if you never saw him and never knew him?"

"Well," replied the witness, and the smile which overspread his features eventually passed over the court, "you see, I married his widow."

Primitive Steeds.

From history we learn that the boys in the time of George III, coasted on sleds made of a small board, with beef bones as runners. But these dropped out of sight when an inventive genius built one out of a barrel stave, for his invention was extensively copied. The barrel staves were called "jumpers" and "skippers" and were made of a single barrel stave of moderate width, to which was nailed a twelve inch stave post about an inch and a half thick. A piece of barrel head constituted the seat. To navigate this craft required no little skill, the revolutions performed by the rider while "getting" the bang of the derelict old thing" being akin to the antics of a tumbler on a bucking broncho. A more stable and docile jumper was made by fastening two or three staves side by side, but these were not considered as fast travelers as the single staves.—Ontario.

When Umbrellas Were Heavy.

The great objection to umbrellas 100 years ago was their weight, and when it is stated as a matter of fact that the very smallest umbrella then weighed no less than three and a half pounds it will probably be admitted that the objection was a justifiable one.

Instead of the thin rainproof fabrics which now form the covering of umbrellas nothing better was known than leather or oiled cloth. The ribs were of wood or whalebone, and such a thing as a steel rod was, of course, unknown. The stick was usually of heavy oak. In those days, too, many umbrellas had the additional incumbrance of feathers over the top, on the theory of "shedding water off a duck's back." But the oiled cloth and leather umbrellas, notwithstanding the feathers, were apt to leak.

Bernard Shaw and the Minors.

A good story is told of Bernard Shaw. The occasion was the first production of "Arms and the Man" in London. The production was a success, and at the fall of the curtain there were clamorous calls for the author, to which Mr. Shaw was at length induced to respond. The audience was still cheering, but there was one dissentient in the gallery, who was "booming" with the full power of a pair of very strong lungs. "Yes, sir, I quite agree with you, but what can we do to do against a whole household?"

She Could Use Them.

An old lady on seeing the electric light in the town for the first time was struck with amazement. After gazing at it for a space she entered a grocer's shop and asked:

"I say, mister, how do you make that big light of your'n? I'm tired of burnin' paraffin."

The shopman replied, "Oh, it is caused by a series of electric currents."

"Is it, now?" said the old lady. "Then weigh me a pound. If they won't do for lighting, I'll use 'em up for puttin' din's."—Detroit Free Press.

Dry and Moist Air.

A cubic foot of dry air weighs more than a cubic foot of moist air at the same temperature and pressure. The addition of vapor to a cubic foot of dry air enlarges the volume of the mixture if the air is free to expand, as in the atmosphere, and as the vapor has only about two-thirds the density of dry air at the same temperature and pressure the density of the mixture is less than that of dry air.

Cause For War.

A citizen walking past a butcher shop in a northern Kansas town saw the butcher and a customer rolling over the sawdust floor in a rough and tumble fashion. He pried them apart, and then learned that the customer had come to buy some dog meat and that the butcher had nonchalantly asked, "Do you wish to eat it here or shall I wrap it up?"

Lost Inheritance.

Sutor—Permit me to say, Miss Flash, that in suing for your hand I am respecting the wish of my late father—Miss Flash—Beg your pardon, sir, but in this instance you have inherited your father's lateness. I accepted Mr. Foreman last evening.—Richmond Dispatch.

The Limit.

"What does it mean?" asked Penelope Percival, "where do song says, 'Drink to me only with thine eyes?'" "It means," pronounced Wise Wilfred, "that de tiddy kinn read de wine list, but dat's as far as it goes."

A good epitaph is all right in its place, but it comes so late.—Galveston News.

A cubic foot of dry air weighs more than a cubic foot of moist air at the same temperature and pressure. The addition of vapor to a cubic foot of dry air enlarges the volume of the mixture if the air is free to expand, as in the atmosphere, and as the vapor has only about two-thirds the density of dry air at the same temperature and pressure the density of the mixture is less than that of dry air.

Louisville, Ky., January 22, 1907.

Gentlemen—Having examined your Meat and Malt preparation, and being thoroughly acquainted with its composition and mode of manufacture, I can state that it is an efficient nerve and blood tonic, it excites the appetite and invigorates digestion, and is especially beneficial in nervous prostration and all diseases attended with debility. A Hild Dutch Law.

More than 200 years ago the Dutch rulers of Ceylon, anxious to retain their monopoly of the precious spice for which that island is famous, enacted a law which made it a capital offense to buy or sell the wild jungle cinnamon, then the only sort known. The plants, wherever found, were held to be the property of the state. If a shrub chanced to spring up in a man's doorway, he could neither destroy nor use it under severe penalties. Things are happily different now.

Where He Located.

Stuffer (at the end of Simplus's bull)—Do you know, I can't find my overcoat anywhere.

Simplus—Have you looked in the refreshment room?

Stuffer—Why, no! How could it be in there?

Simplus—You haven't been anywhere else during the evening, have you?

Fate's Injustice.

Noach (disconsolately)—The rich are getting richer and the poor poorer.

Friend—What's wrong now?

Noach—Miss Polypurse has refused me and is going to marry Mr. Coupon.

TRAFFIC IN YOUNG GIRLS.

Investigation on the part of the customs officials at Seattle, Wash., into the slave traffic in young girls brought from Japan into the United States, and sold to men who farm them out for immoral purposes, has revealed a deplorable state of affairs and to a much greater extent than ever before anticipated.

The Japanese Consuls at Seattle, Vancouver and other cities in that district will lend their aid in breaking up the business, and use their influence to have every person deported for their connection with the traffic punished on their arrival in Japan. Assurances have been given that the Japanese Government will be disposed to take the matter up and to strictly enforce the laws which provide a severe punishment for such acts of unbecomment.

PROVERB HUNTING.

There is great pleasure in The Cincinnati Post's "Proverb Hunting Contest." That enterprising newspaper will give away $1000 worth of desirable prizes including several grand steamer trips to the East, West, North and South, without any expense to the successful proverb hunter.

Our readers should secure a copy of The Cincinnati Post every day, and study the proverb which appears in each issue. Many of our readers will readily recall the proverb when they see the picture, and will have little difficulty in winning some of The Post's elegant prizes.

The Cincinnati Post's "Proverb Hunting Contest" is an educational campaign and is naturally endorsed by ministers, school teachers, lawyers, business men, professional men, students and school children. It is an incentive to the student to dig into authorities, and prove his knowledge of proverb studies.

The Post proverb hunt commands special attention because of The Post's liberality in rewarding its readers for devoting a little time to research and study. We advise our readers to become subscribers to The Cincinnati Post, and immediately enter the "Proverb Hunting Contest." The Post makes daily announcements for the benefit of its readers and the general public.

The Contest began January 28th and you can enter the contest any time before it closes. Secure back numbers from the Post at regular rates.

Paine's Celery Compound CURES RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism, which does its terrible work in the muscles, joints, and tissues, is caused by an acid which gathers in the blood. To get rid of this poisonous acid which produces the twinges, pains, agonies, inflammations, swellings, peculiar to rheumatism, Paine's Celery Compound should be used without delay. No other medicine gives such prompt, cheering, and happy results. It is the only medicine that prevents a return of the dreaded disease. Paine's Celery Compound braces the nerves, the blood is quickly cleared of all irritating poisons, tissue and muscle are built up, and the digestive organs perfectly toned. Do not treat with indifference the slightest rheumatic symptoms; the early use of Paine's Celery Compound will save you weeks and months of suffering. Mr. S. D. Conway, St. Louis, Mo., was permanently cured by Paine's Celery Compound after repeated failures with other medicines and physicians; he says:—

"I am 64 years of age, and have lived in St. Louis 27 years, and all this time with the exception of three years, I have served in the Engineers' Department as Inspector. Last winter I contracted rheumatism and was laid up. I tried all remedies and doctors, but all failed until I took Paine's Celery Compound, which has made a permanent cure in my case. I have recommended it to many, and they have used it with the same result."

OBITUARY.

On the morning of March 1, 1903, Mrs. Millie Price, wife of J. H. Price, and a daughter of Carol Hodge, after a protracted illness of six months breathed her last at her home near Levas, Ky.

She made a profession of faith in Christ in the 16th year of her age, and was baptized into the fellowship of Union church by Eld. T. C. Carter in June 1881—she being the first person he ever baptized. Seldom indeed are we called on to chronicle the death of one who exemplified more beautifully the Christian life. She possessed one of the most beautiful and amiable Christian characters we have ever known; her peaceful countenance and example will long live in the hearts and minds of her many friends. Oh how she adorned the grace of God, which brought the Redeemer of men into the world. She loved the society of Christian people and when her health would permit she was always in her place in the house of prayer. For three months or more it was plain to her friends that she was slowly, but surely, sinking into the hands of death. She frequently would say in regard to death, "I am not afraid to die, but I regret to leave my family." A husband and two children survive her. The youngest too young to realize his great loss, but Zetta knows it well, and how deeply we felt her grief as we heard her expression at her mother's grave.

Her funeral service was conducted by the writer at Union church in the presence of a large crowd of weeping friends notwithstanding the inclement weather, after which her remains were borne by loving hands to the cemetery nearby and laid to rest to await the morning of the resurrection.

More Riots

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the liver and kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nerve and the greatest all-around medicine for run down systems. It dispels nervousness, rheumatism and neuralgia and expels malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by Woods & Co.

WORK OF THE MINT.

The United States mint were exceedingly busy in 1902. It was no inconsiderable achievement to send out about 3,500,000 gold coins valued at more than $47,000,000, and to produce 73,491,357 pieces glittering pieces of silver worth for circulation in this country $30,000,000, but the distribution of 87,976,722 bright, fresh pennies, more than one for every man woman and child from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Canada to the gulf, was indeed a popular triumph.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 lbs. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength."—R. F. Haynes.

AN EARLY NORMAN DINNER.

The Saxon dinner arrangements were tame compared with those of the early Normans, when the halls and passages were frequently the scene of a free fight between the servants bringing in the food and the hangers on endeavoring to snatch it from them. This nuisance became at length so intolerable that ushers of the hall and it then were established by King William Rufus, to protect not only the cooks bringing in the dinner, but the guests arriving to partake of it.

A Physician Writes

"I am desirous of knowing if the profession can obtain Herbine in bulk for prescribing purposes? It has been of great use to me in treating cases of dyspepsia brought on by excesses or overwork. I have never known it to fail in restoring the organs affected, to their healthful activity." 50c bottles at H. K. Woods & Co.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Prosperity is frequently the prologue to adversity.

It takes more than a college diploma to be a diplomat.

One of the greatest discoveries of the new century is the means whereby a cure may be had of most any form of liver and kidney trouble, biliousness, sour stomach, sickheadache, and that is found in Hill's Universal pills, for a full account of their merits write Mrs. Jane Thornton, of Moark, Mo. Your druggists guarantee them; they are mild but effective, price 25c per box.

People who ridicule fools are usually in the same boat.

Cultivate prudence; do not eat tomorrow's dinner today.

Decoy ducks are the only kind you encounter at some boarding houses.

B. F. Herrin, county clerk of Hardin county, in a recent said: One box Hill's Anti-Malarial Tablets have done more toward toning and building up my system than two bottles of Sarsaparilla. County clerk Herrin is not the only man who has found more benefit from one 25c box of Hill's Anti-Malarial Tablets than more costly preparations. They are a good tonic and a fine laxative and that is what is needed in restoring lost vigor to an overworked body. Price 25 cents at all patent medicine dealers in the county.

Some men pay small debts for the purpose of contracting large ones.

Having a good time is the most strenuous undertaking a man can attempt.

A merchant of Poseyville, Ind., B. H. Armstrong writes: I have given Hill's Specific to my children for different forms of bowel complaints and find that it stands without an equal as it cured them in each instant almost instantly. Bowel complaints are numerous during the summer months therefore it would be wise to keep a bottle of Hill's Specific on hand for emergency in each household during the summer. It is healing and soothing to the bowels, pleasant to take but effective. Price 25 cents at all patent medicines dealers in the county.

Don't think because a woman is fair that she isn't capable of being unfair at times.

There are a great many promising young men who never reach the paying stage.

You can almost see the cracks in the average man's voice when he attempts to warble.

Mrs. J. J. Hancock, wife of Miller at Simpson, Ill., writes: I have used Hill's Anti-Malarial Tablets in our family for past three years and they have always given entire satisfaction. They will cure thin blood, chills, fever, sallow complexion, tired feeling, nervousness, biliousness, fever, foul stomach, sluggish liver, palpitation of heart, acute catarrh, constipation, dizziness, loss of appetite, dyspepsia, and all diseases that result from malaria. Price 25c, for sale at all dealers in patent medicines in the county.

Even if a man doesn't look like a fool he can easily deceive strangers by acting like one.

A rural citizen in Ohio has cows that laugh. Of course they are the laughing stock of the neighborhood.

The best pill 'neath the stars and stripes. It cleanses the system and never gripes. Little Early Risers of wordly repute—Ask for DeWitt's and take no substitute. A small pill, easy to buy, easy to take and easy to act, but never failing in results. DeWitt's Little Early Risers arouse the secretions and act as a tonic to the liver, curing permanently.

R. F. Haynes.

The Stomach is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cleanses, purifies, sweetens and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach, and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.—R. F. Haynes.

PREVENTIVE MEDICINE.

Keeping Out the Germs Is Better Than Doctoring For Them.

In looking over the history of the search for a means of cure one is struck by the great value of the ounce of prevention. Keeping the germs out is in every way preferable to dealing with the matter after they have once entered the body. This fact scientific medicine is impressing more and more deeply on the minds of public authorities and the people, and their response in the form of provisions for improved public and private sanitation is one of the striking features of the social progress of the present time. All the more enlightened nations, states and cities of the world possess organized departments of health, which, with varying degrees of thoroughness, deal with the problems presented by the infectious diseases in the light of the latest discoveries.

Fifty years ago the term preventive medicine was unknown. Today it represents a great body of well attested and accepted principles. It has cleaned our streets, it has helped build our model tenements, it has purified our food and our drinking water, it has entered our homes and kept away disease. It has prolonged our lives and it has made the world a sweeter place in which to live.—Medical News.

What's in a Name?

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for piles, for blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases. DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine.—R. F. Haynes.

Working Overtime

Eight hour laws are ignored by those tireless little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always at work, night and day, curing indigestion, biliousness, constipation, Sick Headache and all Stomach, Liver and Bowel troubles. Easy, pleasant, safe, sure. Only 25c at Woods & Co's drugstore.

Cramp in the Leg.

To those who suffer from cramp in the leg at night the following hint may be useful: When the cramp comes on, take a good strong string—a long garter will do—wind it round the leg over the place that is affected and take an end in each hand and give it a sharp pull, one that will hurt a little. Instantly the cramp will depart, and the sufferer can return to bed assured it will not come on again that night.

His Own Critic.

Son—But accidents will happen, father, in the best regulated families.

Father (angrily)—That may be, sir, but I would have you to understand that mine is not one of the best regulated families.

Tragedy Averted

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved" writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well." Everybody ought to know, it's the only sure cure for coughs, colds and all lung diseases. Guaranteed by Woods & Co., druggist. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottles free.
